GIF SONOMAL INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL

Sonoma is a festival that's passionate about film, about the art of filmmaking and storytelling, and not all that periphery.

Sir Ben Kingsley

The Sonoma International Film Festival provides a welcoming, entertaining and inspiring cinematic experience that supports and promotes independent films, and celebrates the cultural diversity in the Sonoma Valley through the art of film. We are dedicated to the financial support of the visual arts educational programs in Sonoma Valley schools and community outreach programs.

The San Francisco Chronicle is thrilled to sponsor the Sonoma International Film Festival and is proud to continue its support of our unique arts and entertainment community of the Bay Area.

Bill Nagel | Publisher, The San Francisco Chronicle

The Sonoma International Film Festival has something for everyone with its variety of films. The town and entire community embrace everyone with such welcoming enthusiasm that you immediately feel like you are among old friends.

Hunt Lowry | Film & TV Producer, Warner Brothers

What a lovely setting for a congenial gathering filled with nice people and an eclectic selection of films.

Leonard Maltin | Film Critic & Historian

SIFF is a jewel of a film festival: serious in its celebration of cinema, but as warm and inviting as Sonoma itself. Somehow it manages to bring in the best talent Hollywood and the world have to offer, while staying true to its small town charm. To be a part of it is to fall in love with the movies again—in one of the most beautiful spots on Earth.
